MET ON A CURVE.

Terrible Result of a Collision Between Passenger Trains on Southern in Tennessee.

SIXTY-TWO PERSONS ARE DEAD.

Death List May Exceed 70 as Many of the 162 Injured Are in a Serious Condition.

The Crowded Coaches of One Train Were Crushed Like Eggshells—One of the Engineers Evidently Disobeyed Orders.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 26.—Running on a railroad in a supposedly high condition of maintenance, and having about them every safeguard known to modern railroading, two trains on the Southern railway, carrying heavy lists of passengers, came together in a frightful head-end collision near Hodges, Tenn., Saturday.

The appalling loss of life and maiming of the living resulted apparently from the disregarding of orders given to the two trains to meet at a station which has for a long time been their regular meeting point.

The claim of failure to see either the station or signals can not be set up by the engineer of the westbound train were he alive to enter a plea of defense, as the accident happened in broad daylight, and, according to the best information obtainable, he had the order in a little frame in front of him as his monster of iron and steel rushed by Newmarket Station and soon after came full upon an eastbound passenger train making for Newmarket, in compliance with instructions to meet the westbound train which carried the sleepers from the east for Knoxville, Chattanooga and other southern cities.

The possibility exists that the ill-fated engineer may have been asleep, or that death had suddenly taken the sight from his eyes before Newmarket was reached. But nothing is known save that the orders were not obeyed. The trains were on time and not making over 35 miles an hour, yet the impact as they rounded a curve and came suddenly upon each other was frightful. Both engines and the major portions of both trains were demolished, and why the orders were disregarded or misinterpreted will never be known, as the engineers of the two trains were crushed, their bodies remaining for hours under the wreckage of the monster locomotives.

The death list as a result of the fearful wreck had grown Sunday night to 62 and it will probably exceed 70 before Tuesday, as many of the injured are in a serious condition and more deaths will occur at the hospital. Sunday there were six deaths at that institution, the last one occurring at 8 o'clock Sunday night, when M. P. Gant a prominent North Carolinian, residing at Shelby, N. C., passed away. Others who died Sunday at the hospital were the two colored firemen, two little girls and Nep Miller, colored, of Johnson City. To the list of dead there must be added an unknown infant found Sunday at the scene of the wreck and two other unidentified bodies.

A force of 150 men toiled all day long at the scene of the wreck. Before 2 o'clock Sunday morning the track was clear for through trains, but it required many hours to clear the debris.

Engineers Parrott and Kane were found beneath their engines, but their bodies were not badly crushed. Small fragments of bodies were found in many instances Sunday, but it is thought that they belong to bodies already found and brought to this city. One little baby was found by the wreckers, but that was all.

The cause of the terrible loss of life in the heavy eastbound train was explained Sunday. It seems that the second coach ploughed its way into a bank in such a manner that the other cars were jammed into it and pushed on by the weight of the heavy Pullmans, were crushed like eggshells.

Physicians at the hospital stated Sunday night that of the long list of injured which they have in their care it is probable that not more than four will die. The complete list of injured as given by the railroad officials shows a total of 162, but this includes all persons who were only slightly hurt or scratched.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 26.—A telegram has been received at Gaffney, this state, announcing the death of Lee Hill at Jellico, Tenn., who was killed in an explosion in a powder mill. The body was expected at Gaffney Saturday night but instead, a telegram was received stating that the body, accompanied by Scott Hill, his father, Lee Hill's wife and four children and a single sister were all on the ill-fated Southern train which was wrecked Saturday and that all were killed. The bodies of all seven of the family are expected to reach Gaffney Monday morning.

MOUNT VESUVIUS.

The Eruption Is Now More Violent Than at Any Time Since 1872.

Naples, Sept. 26.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius continues to increase in force and is now more violent than at any time since 1872. Red hot stones are hurled to a height of 1,600 feet, falling down the flanks of the mountains with a deafening sound, the director of the observatory says that between 5 o'clock Sunday morning and 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon his instruments registered 1,844 violent explosions, and that one stone thrown out weighed about two tons. Lava flowing from the crater has melted the metal of the funicular railway, destroyed the upper station and burned the wooden huts in which guides live.

Stricken While Preaching.

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 26.—Rev. Jacob Steinhauser, D.D., pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran church and professor of Hebrew in Muhlenberg college, sustained his third stroke of paralysis while preaching a sermon in German Sunday and died later.

Broke the World's Record.

New York, Sept. 26.—Louis Mang broke the world's record of 35 feet 8½ inches for three standing jumps, held by Ray Ewry, of the New York Athletic club, by an inch and a quarter at the Mohawk and Mott Haven Athletic club's games.

The Concert Took Place.

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Judge Jackson, of the United States court at Parkersburg, issued an injunction restraining the city of Fairmont from interfering with a concert by an eastern orchestra at the opera house Sunday night.

The Shipping Question.

London, Sept. 26.—The Morning Post in a strong editorial on the shipping question says that German energy is conspicuous but that there is even a greater need to keep a watchful eye on the shipping legislation of the United States.

Secretary Taft in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Secretary Taft returned to Washington Sunday night from Point-a-Pic, near the mouth of the St. Lawrence, where he has been for several weeks. He was accompanied by his brother, Henry W. Taft.

FORT KUROPATKIN.

This Important Position Which Protects the Water Supply of Port Arthur Captured.

OTHER FORTS TAKEN BY THE JAPS.

During the Day and Night of September 19 Bombardment of Stronghold Continued Without Ceasation.

Japanese Losses Are Placed Under 3,000, But the Russians Claim That Their Losses Were Fully Three Times That Number.

Ch'ien Foo, Sept. 26.—As a result of the battle before Port Arthur which began on September 19, the Japanese succeeded in capturing several important positions and Sunday the Russian tenure of the big forts guarding the north, northeast and northwest sides of the town was seriously threatened. Chinese information places the Japanese losses under 3,000 for the three days' fighting and this comparatively small casualty list is due to the excessive care used by the Japanese in making their preparations for the advance. Russian sources, however, claim to have information that the Japanese losses were unusually severe, amounting to fully three times the number mentioned above.

Possibly the most important capture during the three days' fighting was that of Fort Kuropatkin, which, while of minor value with regard to preventing the entrance into the town of the Japanese, had been constructed for the purpose of protecting the source of the garrison's water supply. The control of this water supply is now in the hands of the Japanese.

As was announced in these dispatches on September 20 the battle began before daybreak on September 19. At this hour the citizens and the garrison of Port Arthur, after the enjoyment of weeks of comparative security, awoke to the thunderous reports of artillery along the line extending from the west of Itz mountains to Riplung and Kikwan mountains. This was but a preface to the assault which was destined to result in the capture of three new and important Russian positions, together with six small but annoying forts lying between Shushiyen and Rihlung mountain. During the day and night of the 19th and until noon of the 20th the bombardment continued without cessation and the many shells falling from quarters which previously had been silent, made it obvious that the Japanese had at last succeeded either in mounting heavy guns in new positions or in strengthening their old positions.

At noon on September 20 the Japanese right and center, the former being to the west and the latter to the east of the railroad, commenced the advance. The troops made use of the trenches and infrequent natural cover that lay in their way. The small forts to the south of Shushiyen resisted this advance but briefly, their garrisons not being strong numerically. Since the beginning of the bombardment the artillery fire from Fort Kuropatkin had been growing steadily weaker, and it having become apparent that it had been practically silenced, the Japanese assaulted the fort.

At 5 o'clock of the afternoon of the 20th the Japanese captured a supplementary fort which from the lower ground threatens the fort on Itz mountain. This ended the heavy fighting for that day, although the Japanese later were compelled to resist several sorties.

During the night the heavy bombardment of the Russian positions continued, the Japanese fire being directed with particular vigor against another supplementary fort, 5,000 yards to the west of the fort on Itz mountain, and regarded as highly important because of its bearing on the Itz and Anshu mountain forts. The next day, after having pounded this position unmercifully and until its fire had slackened visibly, the Japanese delivered their assault. They met with a stubborn resistance. They were exposed to the fire of machine guns and rifles and they made frantic efforts to reach the crest of the slope. They leaped over trenches and embankments and tore down the entanglements in their path until at length they entered the fort. The Russian troops there refused to desert their position, even in the face of the superior numbers which confronted them, and desperate hand-to-hand fighting occurred inside the fort. Eventually almost the entire Russian garrison was either killed or wounded.

Military experts here are of the opinion that if the Japanese capture either Rihlung or Kikwan forts or the Itz and Anshu forts the doom of Port Arthur is sealed, and for this reason the importance of the results obtained by the Japanese in their latest assaults upon the Russian positions is obvious.

SEIZED WHISKY.

A Revenue Agent Takes the Crigler Plant in Covington.

Covington, Ky., Sept. 26.—The greatest seizure of whisky by United States revenue officials in many years has just taken place in this city at the plant of Crigler & Crigler, on East Pike street. It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 gallons of liquor is now in the hands of Revenue Agent Shelley, who came on from Louisville a few days ago to investigate alleged irregularities that were being practiced by the firm. The investigation has been conducted with the utmost secrecy. Shelley denied his identity to all that he met, and aside from the United States officials few knew that anything out of the ordinary was going on within the walls of the rectifying plant.

It is charged by the revenue officials that Crigler & Crigler have been guilty of drawing off old whisky from barrels filled with goods of a certified age and bonded, and replacing the oily old stock with green whisky. It is alleged that flavoring matter and other ingredients were added in order to give the blend, the taste and strength of legitimate aged goods. It is said that the firm was detected in the work by an employee who peeped over a transom.

THE MULLIGAN FAMILY.

Negro Waiter Charged With Attempt to Poison It Arrested.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 26.—Despite his promise "to tell all" Sunday morning, Louis Mitchell, the Negro waiter arrested Saturday night for attempting to poison the family of Judge Jas. H. Mulligan, is playing a game of hide-and-seek with the police. A prominent man is under suspicion by the police and it was believed that the Negro would implicate him Sunday morning, but when confronted by the Mulligan family and the detectives, Mitchell told an impossible story about a masked white man holding him up at the point of a pistol when he reached the Mulligan home Saturday morning. According to Mitchell the masked man marched him to the barn, and escaped from the premises. Mitchell says he feared to tell the family of the hold up lest he be killed. He does not explain his premonition of warning the family of Salmon. The Negro will be kept in solitary confinement until he confesses. His story created a profound sensation here Sunday.

HIGH HEELED SHOES.

They Caused a Cancer, Resulting in a Louisville Woman's Death.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Blanche Malkin Hunter, wife of William A. Hunter, who is a son of Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, died at 4:10 o'clock Sunday afternoon from sarcoma, due to a cancerous growth caused by wearing high-heeled shoes.

About a year and a half ago a cancer appeared on Mrs. Hunter's right heel, and to save her life the leg was amputated below the knee. She never recovered from the shock and poison which had spread through her system.

Mrs. Hunter was a daughter of Mrs. M. B. Malkin, and she was a society favorite before her marriage. She was 23 years old.

MILLIONAIRE HAGGIN.

A Suit Filed Against Him For Back Taxes.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 26.—State Revenue Agent George H. Alexander, of Louisville, filed suit here against James B. Haggin, the millionaire proprietor of Elmendorf, for the recovery of alleged back taxes on real and personal property valued at $2,600,000. The total amount of state taxes alleged to be due is placed at $63,700, and that due the county is placed at $65,000. To this is added a penalty of 20 per cent. for five years back, making a grand total of $154,400, sued for. The case is set for trial before County Judge F. A. Bullock October 10.

A Duel With Pistols.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Sept. 26.—Charles T. Royse, a prominent farmer of Nicholas county, engaged in a pistol duel with a Negro named Jim Pearsal. Royse was badly wounded in the head, and the Negro in the hip. The wounds may result fatally in each case.

The Durham Funeral.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 26.—The body of Hardy B. Durham, the local turfman, who died suddenly at Sheephead Bay, arrived here Sunday night, accompanied by his son, Puryear Durham. The funeral took place Monday morning.

It is not the way you begin a race, but the way you end it that counts.—Chicago Tribune.

THE Standard Dictionary defines megalomaniac as "insanity in which the subject thinks he is great or exalted." A megalomaniac is one who thinks himself great or exalted, or, in the vernacular, has "the big head"—the Lewis County statesman (?) for example.

To an audience of his countrymen that filled every seat in the auditorium, at Chicago, John E. Redmond, Irish Nationalist, uttered this warning: "Our race is slipping from its moorings—it is dying. If we are passive and inactive, Ireland will cease to be the home of the Celt. There are more old men and little children and fewer young men and women in that island than in any other country on earth. The death of the race can only be warded off by acting in the living present. We must not neglect the opportunity."

MR. HENRY GEORGE, JR., in a letter over his signature published in the New York World, expressing his desire for Democratic supremacy, says: "To men thinking as I do there is not only no good result to be obtained by voting for Mr. Watson, the People's Party candidate for the Presidency; there is a negative evil. The election lies between President Roosevelt and Judge Parker, and what one or the other stands for must govern the administrative branch of the United States Government for the next four years." Don't vote for Watson.

AFTER pondering over the figures of the Department of Commerce and Labor for about a month, the Chicago Chronicle has discovered Mr. Wright's "average man does not exist," but that "the standard of living is better" than it was a few years ago. Since the beef trust, the coal trust, and the hundreds of other trusts have advanced the prices to top notch, the average man and woman have discovered that it costs a great deal more to keep up the standard of living, and that present wages and trust prices are an obstacle that every one feels. All the sophistry of the Republican statisticians cannot gloss over the fact that the limited income cannot be stretched to meet the demands that are made upon it. High trust prices, fostered by the protective tariff, may give a glamour of prosperity to the protected industries, but the many have to pay to the prosperous few.

WATSON'S WORK.

Though Thomas E. Watson in his speech accepting the Populist nomination for President at Cooper Union, New York, on August 18, said that Roosevelt "stands for those governmental principles which, in my judgment, are hurrying this Republic into a sorid despotism of wealth," the full speech is being sent broadcast as a Republican document.

The New York World states that the Republicans are hoping by this means to estrange "the voters of the Bryan Democrats from the National Democratic ticket."

"A Populist campaign in this state," continues the World, "is to be made with a plentiful supply of funds, and a state organization, it is said. It is openly intimated that there are not a few Republicans who would subscribe liberally to the Populist cause, for the purpose of deflecting Bryan votes from Parker."

In this connection it is announced that Thomas E. Watson is to deliver forty speeches in doubtful states, and, strangely enough, at the precise points where they might be expected to do most harm to the Democratic ticket. Mr. Watson has been in frequent consultation with a number of men here about his plans. Some of these men were formerly closely identified with Bryan."

In connection with the efforts of Populists to aid Mr. Roosevelt, Democrats are citing this trenchant paragraph from Mr. Roosevelt's pamphlet on the campaign of 1896:

"Thrift, industry, and business energy are qualities which are quite incompatible with true Populistic feeling. Payment of debt, like the suppression of riots, is abhorrent to the Populistic mind. Such conduct strikes the Populist as immoral."

You are invited to attend our fall and winter opening Sept. 28th and 29th.

The Little Bee Was Dead.

[Exchange]

There was once a politician, and he had a little bee;

A buzzin' and a buzzin' where an insect shouldn't be;

And the bee kept on a buzzin' till the politician got

A notion he was born to tell the people what is what;

His mouth got broad and roomy, and his tongue got long and thin,

And he shouted and spouted the reasons he should win.

He spent his cash in handfuls, but he didn't care for that,

While the little bee was busy in the top part of his hat.

He saw himself a sittin' in the office he had won,

And everybody talkin' of the things that he had done.

But, alas! the morning after, when he crawled out of his bed,

He listened, and he listened, but the little bee was dead.

JAMES MAHER DEAD.

Aged Gate Keeper Passed Away Saturday Afternoon at 3:30 O'Clock at the City Almshouse.

Mr. James Maher, a venerable Irish citizen, died at the city almshouse Saturday afternoon at half-past three o'clock, of consumption of the stomach. He had been an inmate of the institution only a short time.

Before the county turnpikes were made free roads, he was gate-keeper on the Lexington pike at the top of the hill. Later he was employed in the C. and O. yards here.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Gantley, of the county, and one son, John, who lives at St. Louis.

The funeral occurred this morning at 9 o'clock, from St. Patrick's Church, burial at Washington.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH.

American Farmer Could Pay the National Debt, Buy Up All the Important Trusts and Have Plenty of Money Left to Burn.

You may call him a "rube" or a "hay-seed" or a "yap," but the farmer is the biggest man in the country nevertheless, says the Harrodsburg Democrat. He could buy all the national banks, pay the national debt, purchase both the steel combine and the Standard Oil trust and put Wall street out of business, out of the products of his own toil, and still have a billion dollars left for pocket money.

To sum up a sentence, the farmer, by whatever name he may be called, is the most important class in the United States, and he has a right to grow chesty at the showing he makes.

Attention, Farmers. Before buying your timothy seed, you will do well to look up the quality and price at the Magnolia Flour Mills.

MAYSVILLE, KY

CUPID'S CAPERS.

Another Autumnal Wedding to be Celebrated in Maysville Early in October.

Cupid has been unusually busy during the summer preparing for a number of early fall weddings.

The bells are ringing for another nuptial event to take place Thursday, October 6th.

On that date, Mr. Elmer Nathan Wheeler and Miss Lulu Graves McNutt will be united in marriage in the Methodist Episcopal Church parsonage at 2:30 p. m., Rev. Bunker, pastor, officiating.

The wedding will be a quiet affair, no witnesses being expected other than the attendants,—Mr. Claude McNutt, a brother of the bride, and Miss Katherine Schwartz, a near friend of the contracting parties.

The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McNutt of West Third street, a very estimable girl, who enjoys a wide circle of friends.

The groom is a salesman at the Frank Owens Hardware Company's establishment and is held in great esteem by his employers, as is attested by the fact that he has been with the firm for many years, and enjoys the respect and confidence of all his associates.

After the ceremony the couple will leave on the 3:25 flyer for a brief honeymoon which includes a visit to relatives at Newport and Cincinnati. On their return they will go to housekeeping in a cozy home which Elmer has already prepared for his bride on West Third street.

Miss Mary Mulligan of Lexington was married Thursday to Mr. Frank Stevenson of Middleboro.

Wednesday of this week Mrs. L. V. Davis will have her regular opening of fall and winter millinery.

Mrs. W. A. Morrison who continues ill at her sister's, Mrs. M. E. McKellup, on Limestone street, is in a critical condition.

Conductor Charles Saunders of the C. and O. is at Clifton Forge, where he will probably undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The Daughters of Pocahontas will entertain their friends and Redmen to-morrow night at I. O. R. M. hall with a musical and refreshments.

The Richmond Blues of Richmond, Va., passed east over the C. and O. on second No. 6, at 12:30 noon, Sunday, after spending a week at St. Louis.

Belle Young, a white woman, was arrested here Saturday by Sheriff Roberson and taken back to Carlisle, where she is wanted on a charge of adultery.

R. M. Hopkins, State Sunday school evangelist, will conduct a Sunday school Institute at Beasley Creek Church tonight at 7:30. Public cordially invited.

We respectfully invite you to be present at our fall and winter display of millinery which will occur Wednesday, Sept. 28th.

ANNA B. KING.

They've made a parson of George Frank at last. The Courier-Journal's correspondent says the reverend gentleman spoke on "The Business of the Sunday School" at the Christian Church State meeting at Winchester Thursday afternoon.

The many friends of Charley Case, for many years an employee of Hall's plow works, will be pleased to hear that he has had his pension increased from $8 to $10 a month. He is an old Aberdeen boy and served three years in Company "H" of the Twelfth Ohio. His present address is the Soldier's Home at Dayton, Ohio.

The recent acquisition of his partner's interest in the business leaves Dan Perrine, the jeweler, with a larger stock on hand than he wished to carry at present. It is his purpose to sell as much goods as possible to make room for the newest novelties, which will soon be coming on for the fall and holiday trade. He invites your patronage with attractive prices—10 to 30 per cent. discount on anything in stock. Some handsome decorated Chinaware at 20 per cent. reduction. If you need anything in jewelry, go to Perrine's.

The BULLETIN has in its keeping an odd coin or medal, whichever it might be called, that we would like to show collectors, with the hope of learning something of its history. It is about the size of a half dollar, brass, and has on one side the profile of a bearded man; on the reverse side is an eagle with the following lettering: "United States, the Birthplace of Freedom." It is evidently very old as the inscription on one side is almost worn off. The owner is anxious to learn something about it.

Refrigerators,

Gasoline Stoves, Ice Cream Freezers and all summer goods must be sold. Call early and secure bargains in these lines.

HARD TO EXPLAIN.

If This Had Occurred Anywhere Else Than
Maysville Our Readers Might Doubt It.

It's hard to explain how the public can continue to doubt in the face of such evidence. If this were published anywhere else than in Maysville, if the statement given below went the rounds of the press, readers in Boston or New Orleans might doubt it. But it's very different when the testimony given comes from a friend, perhaps a neighbor. It is public expression of a local citizen and can be easily investigated.

Mr. Larmon Daweon, residing at 934 East Second street, says: "The quick relief from pain in my back, which followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills proved them to possess remarkable healing powers. I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store, corner West Second and Market streets. From the satisfactory results obtained I can advise all in need of kidney medicine to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The Yellow Ribbon Fair will be held at Aberdeen September 29 and 30. Make your arrangements now to attend. This is the fair that caters especially to the comfort of its patrons. A fine reed and brass band, in fact a band of artists, will furnish the music. The music alone will be worth the price of admission. Your friends will be there to join in the procession on the 29th and 30th and "take in" the only Yellow Ribbon Fair on earth. Fine stock. Large premiums.

Large audiences attended the closing services of the conference year at the Third Street M. E. Church yesterday. There were seven more additions to the church,—three in the morning and four at night. The year closed in fine shape with this old church. The pastor, Rev. M. A. Bunker, was unanimously requested to return for another year.

NOTICE.

The legally qualified voters of the city of Maysville are hereby notified that an ordinance was adopted by the Board of Council of the city of Maysville on the 5th day of September, 1904, ordering an election to be held in all six wards of the city of Maysville, at the next regular election, on the 8th day of November, 1904, and that the question to be submitted to the legally qualified voters of the city of Maysville, whether or not the City Council of the city of Maysville shall, in case of said election, vote to issue to be sold $12,000 of bonds, bearing 4 per centum interest, per annum, payable semi-annually, and the said bonds shall be made payable as follows: $2,000 on the 1st day of August, each year, for six successive years, beginning with the year 1912 and ending with the year 1917. The said bonds to be made payable to the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee or bearer or his assigns. Payment to be made in the treasury of said city, and the money so paid for paying for the construction of a public sewer, in the corporate limits of said city, beginning on the east side of Wood street in the Sixth ward of said city, and running west along the north side or near thereto of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad to Union street, thence west along the north side of Third street to Lexington street, thence northwest across Lexington street to Hall's alley, thence west along Hall's alley to Commerce street, thence north along Commerce street to Court street, thence west along Court street to Wood street, thence south along Wood street to the east side of the same, and the money so appropriated out of the general ad valorem tax of the city, 16 mills on each $100, or so much thereof as may be necessary, on the assessed value of the taxable property of the city of Maysville as a special interest and sinking fund to pay $480 annual interest on said bonds as the same falls due each year, beginning with the year 1905 and ending with the year 1917 and for the years 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917 there shall be levied out of the general ad valorem tax 6 1/2 cents on each $100, or so much thereof as may be necessary, on the assessed value of the taxable property of said city to be a special sinking fund to liquidate $2,000 of said bonds each year as they mature.
